

RACIAL EQUITY AND SOCIAL JUSTICE IN THE CLASSROOM

Connect. Learn. Grow. Build Your Future.

Join us for this mini-conference centered on how teachers can meet students' needs for racial equity and social justice in the classroom.

During this virtual gathering, you will:

- Learn from nationally-known scholar-activist, Lisa Wilson, M.Ed. on how to create an inclusive classroom environment that validates and appreciates each child's identity.
- Hear from a panel of student-activists who will share how they have organized for change in their communities and schools. They'll also talk about what teachers should know about providing a representative and welcoming learning space for their students.
