00:20:33 Lea Martinez -Teach for LA Team: Yes, the presenters can share it to Teach for LA team and we can make it available in the teachlarc.org website.

00:21:03 Nicholas Buchanan: Thank you

00:21:59 Haihua Marina Chen: CSULB offers single subject credential in Italian, who do I have to contact to obtain more information? MA in teaching in Italian, obtained in Italy with 30 hours of student teaching, tried to apply to CTC to obtain the teacher credential in Italian as individual prepared out of the country, but the student teaching of 30 hours is definitely not qualified. Any advice?

- 00:22:12 erika burciaga: Interesting I would like to major in social science one day...I liked history because I had a good History Teacher I had...
- 00:23:03 Jessica Olague: @ Haihua Marina Chen - Reach out to our World Languages Faculty Advisor, Cynthia Leathers at cynthia.leathers@csulb.edu.
- 00:23:37 Haihua Marina Chen: Thank you Jessica!
- 00:25:50 Michelle Bugarin: seriously!!!
- 00:28:37 Renee Marshall: Haihua- Did CTC give any advice or did they suggest a full credential program?
- 00:29:16 Renee Marshall: Haihua- email me at Education@Renee-Marshall.com
- 00:29:30 erika burciaga: Am I able to get both credentials?
- 00:30:41 Jessica Olague: @Erika Burciaga - Yes! Start with one and then it is just a few additional courses and exams to add the other one on. You just need to student teach for one program so decided if you want to student teach in elementary school or at middle/high school and then complete that program. Then just add the other one on afterwards.
- 00:32:45 erika burciaga: Thank you!
- 00:33:55 Hazel Delgado: How long is the student teach portion of the program?
- 00:34:21 Irving GreyAngeles-SA: Hazel, the student teaching portion is one semester long
- 00:34:30 Danicia Montoya: I'm in ECS but want to transfer into elementary school teaching what do I need to do?
- 00:34:40 Jessica Olague: @Hazel Delgado - It's one semester at your school placement site so it typically 16-20 weeks depending on what school and district you are place in.
- 00:36:33 Jessica Olague: @Dancia Montoya - For elementary education the best major is Liberal Studies but you can major in anything and then complete the Multiple Subject Credential Program afterwards. I would suggest that you speak with your advisor about changing majors to Liberal Studies and what that would mean for you and then decide if you want to stay ECS or change to Liberal Studies.
- 00:36:37 Lilly G. Martinez: Where do we find a list of classes needed for a specific single subject?
- 00:36:38 erika burciaga: What do you need to be able to substitute teach?
- 00:37:00 Jessica Olague: Our Single Subject website is www.csulb.edu/sscp.
- 00:37:25 Jessica Olague: @Erika - Hold that thought. It's coming up!
- 00:37:39 Renee Marshall: If anyone is looking for a job - Woodcraft Rangers is looking for many people for their expanded care programs right now! They have 83 sites, most in Los Angeles!
- 00:38:16 Lilly G. Martinez: We are always looking for volunteers @RiseUpCreatively
- 00:40:20 Renee Marshall: Here is a flyer for Woodcraft Rangers for those looking for employment!

00:42:35 Renee Marshall: YES!!!

00:43:52 Lilly G. Martinez: Does Homeschool teaching count?

00:44:54 Haihua Marina Chen: Could you please give a few words for District Intern Credential For Multiple Subject, Single Subject, and Education Specialist Instruction Teaching? Especially any clarification about The governing board of the employing agency must verify (on form CL-707A, entitled Governing Board Statement for District Intern Credentials) that the district intern will be assisted and guided throughout the training period by a certificated employee who has been designated per California Education Code Section 44830.3(a) please?

00:45:41 Jessica Olague: @ Lilly - Unfortunately, homeschooling does not count toward those hours.

00:46:13 Jessica Olague: @Haihua - send me an email at ced-tpac@csulb.edu and we can talk about internships and the requirements.

00:47:02 Haihua Marina Chen: Thank you Jessica!

00:48:45 Jessica Olague: Yes! Send us an email with any questions regarding obtaining a teaching credential. We're happy to help! ced-tpac@csulb.edu.
